ANDROID DEVICES

Start by dragging down on the top of your phone's screen to get to the Quick Settings menu. On a Samsung device, this will be called "Smart View". On other phones, this may be called "Screen Cast" or "Cast."

In a moment, your TVs name should appear on the screen that comes up listing nearby device to which the phone can connect. Tap on your TV's name and the phone should connect to it within a few seconds. You will want to keep your phone in landscape orientation so it will match the TV. Native Android screen mirroring will work best when the phone and the TV are from the same brand.
